

CURRILA/BATLLA SITE: ARCHAIC HARBOR OF DURRËS

The pilot area of Currila/Batlla in which the underwater research has been carried out, is positioned in the south side of the hill of Durrës city. Through APPRODI Project, from the local investigation have been discovered 31 archaeological remains. The data extracted from the Currila-Batlla site provided the possibility of identifying the archaic Harbor of Durrës, dating to the end of the pre-historic period.

This Lea, et has been produced with the financial assistance of the European Union.
 The content of the Lea, et is the sole responsibility of the Municipality of Durrës and can under no circumstances be regarded as reflecting the position of the European Union and/or ADRIAN programme authorities.